Â .Abiraterone inhibits castration resistant prostate cancer cell proliferation in vitro and in vivo. Castration resistant prostate cancer (CRPC) is a major cause of death, and at present, there are no effective therapies available for this disease. There is an unmet need to develop novel compounds with antiproliferative activity. Here we report that the deacetylase inhibitor, abiraterone acetate (AA), selectively reduces growth of CRPC cells in vitro and inhibits tumor growth in a xenograft model of CRPC. Moreover, the mechanism involves suppression of several oncogenic signaling pathways by enhanced degradation of androgen receptor (AR) and induction of apoptosis. These data suggest that AA may be an effective anticancer agent to treat CRPC in addition to chemotherapy.As much as residents of Northeast Portland and other parts of the city are aware of the city's bike share program, how many other city residents know there's a bike share system? Even fewer may have done more than glance down at the bikes on the stations during a ride. And it's all to encourage people to get out of their cars and go by bike, walking or taking transit. So if the program works, what's it doing? According to a press release from the city, the four stations in the project are serving 1,000 trips each per day. That's not a lot, but it's enough to get people thinking about bikes and biking. The project is just the first of three citywide, year-long bike share programs. The other two are costing about $4 million, according to Randal O'Toole, a spokesman for the
