Bad decisions and the temptation of easy money cause problems for hustler-hero Jack Hustle. After winning a multi-million dollar bet, his life is forever changed when he learns that the casino he's worked at was actually owned by organized crime. Now, with mafia assassins breathing down his neck, his only hope is to get to the bottom of the complex scheme and expose it before it destroys him and everyone he loves. If you like crime stories with lots of twists and turns, this film is for you!

DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT I believe that Hustle & Flow is my most mature work to date. This is evident in several ways. The script is layered, with the plot twists and turns you would expect in a good crime drama. There are also enough characters to allow for individual development. I know that you watch films to see interesting characters; especially when they are in life-threatening situations. But if you're not careful, your film can be full of people who you feel like you've met before except their names are changed. They may even have similar looks or hairstyles. Unfortunately, I'm guilty of this myself at times—because it's usually easier than creating unique characters who sing, dance and act. Hustle & Flow also has a lot of action and gun fights. This is because that's what I live for in films. Gun fights and car chases are the best; especially if we can learn something from them. So, rather than limit myself to one or two gun fight scenes, I decided to do a scene where everyone is armed and there's a shootout.
